GLORIOUS

Reunion of Old and New Members of Mackin Council On Monday.

Men Grown Grey in Service Rally at Call of God and Country.

Splendid Welcome Accorded the Former Members by the President.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES MADE

That was a grand rally and reunion of Mackin Council's old and new members on Monday night. It was the kind of a reunion that boosts the game for the council and for the entire order. It was a gathering that augurs well for the Catholic church and for good citizenship. Preliminary to the social session there was a brief business meeting of the council with Hon. Samuel L. Robertson presiding. Two applications were received and four new members were elected. Michael Carroll, who recently underwent a serious surgical operation in Chicago, and William Quill, who has been suffering from rheumatism, were reported improving. The Opera Committee reported progress and announced that there would be 150 people in the east and chorus. At this juncture the business session closed and the meeting adjourned to the big hall, where the reunion and social festivities took place.

All members of Mackin from every section of the city were present, and President Robertson in welcoming them stated the purpose of the reunion, which was to bring together old and new members of Mackin that the old might take renewed interest and the enthusiasm of the new be increased. His address was gracefully delivered, and at the same time suggested that he was engaged in conducting the council's affairs in a manner as business-like as if he were putting down a concrete walk. He told those assembled that he was gratified at the large attendance and predicted that the reunion would do great good. It was a good idea to meet occasionally and consult for the benefit of the council. It meant mutual encouragement, esteem, moral, intellectual and social uplift of the young man—before a work of national scope, also paid a nice tribute to the members and the work they so gallantly grounded. In establishing Mackin Council, he said, they had erected a monument whose value could not be calculated in dollars and cents.

Attorney Patrick T. Sullivan, a veteran member of the council, followed with an address on the "Young Man." He said he was not one, but that he was growing younger. The life of the church is with the young man who must be depended upon to keep alive the light of faith that was left us by our Divine Saviour. The society that brings the young man to his holy communion regularly and makes him a better Christian and citizen is a boon to the world. He urged the members of Mackin to do all in their power to make the organization the equal of any in the city. Mr. Sullivan also asked them to welcome back all the old members and to treat old and new without discrimination.

Jack Sage said he was aroused by the warmth of welcome and was eager to take up the work again. Henry Hesse, another old member who had long been absent, made a forceful, eloquent and humorous talk, and dwelt on the accruing benefits of the Y. M. C. and stated the necessity for such an organization for both old and young Catholic men. All should belong to some society of Catholics. R. W. Galway, familiarly called "Little Chief," made an excellent talk. He expressed the hope that all the old members would come back. If they could not, then he wanted them to send their children. He dwelt upon the inducements that the society would offer.

Edward Canty, who was one of the first thirty-three members of Mackin, made a nice talk, and Louis Straub expressed his delight at the attendance of old members and the tone of their sentiments. All Catholic men, he said, should be in one fold and for God and Country. Dennis Fenihan announced that he was coming back to work hard in the interests of the council. Dr. A. R. Bivot made one of his old time talks that aroused fresh enthusiasm. He talked about Mackin Council, about St. Patrick's day and several other things, but always kept his audience interested. He was followed by Dr. Michael Casper, who grew reminiscent in talking about Y. M. C. history and urged all the members to read the Kentucky Irish American.

James T. Shelly, the first President of Mackin Council, who is now engaged in selling baseball goods and fishing tackle, reviewed the history of the council and made a strong plea for further improvement. Others who spoke words of encouragement were Charles Lauscher, Charles S. Ralby and William M. Higgins.

CLOCK FOR TOWER

St. Aloysius church at Covington is to be ornamented with a large electric clock. Nearly $1,000 of the money necessary has been subscribed. The exterior of the church is to be covered with cement blocks. When the work is completed the Rev. Father Ignatius Ahmann will have one of the handsomest churches in the diocese.

CONVERT LEAGUE.

Information For Non-Catholics On Doctrines of True Faith.

The Catholic Convert League of Louisville in addition to fostering a true religious spirit among its members has as its main object the enlightenment and conversion of non-Catholics. The league in this respect is a sort of a lay missionary society. Its membership is not, as the name might possibly indicate, limited to converts alone, but is open to all Catholics.

The Catholic Convert League was organized during the present year, and its officers are as follows: President, Judge Matt O'Doherty; Vice Presidents, Messrs. P. H. Callahan, J. J. Caffrey, John A. Doyle, Thomas Walsh and Dr. Peter S. Gans; Spiritual Advisers, Revs. Xavier Sutton, C. P., and C. P. Rafter; Treasurer, F. A. Geher; Secretary, Dr. B. J. O'Connor, 2407 West Chestnut street.

One of the members of the league has donated a hundred copies of Cardinal Gibbons' interesting and instructive book, "The Faith of Our Fathers," for distribution among non-Catholics who are willing to investigate the principles of our religion. If you have any friends who are anxious to read such a book, kindly advise the Secretary of the league of their names and addresses.

FINAL VOWS

Taken by Many Nuns of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth.

Last Saturday was a great day for the order of Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, because on that day eighty members of the order in Louisville and others at Nazareth Academy took their final and perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. At Nazareth Academy the Very Rev. James P. Cronin, V. G., officiated at the high mass and at the ceremonies incidental to the renewal of vows. The institutions in Louisville where the vows were administered included Presentation Academy, St. Joseph's Infirmary, St. Helena's Home, Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, St. Vincent and St. Thomas Orphan Asylums and the O'Leary Home for aged men. The regular chaplains celebrated the mass and presided at the making of the vows at each of these institutions.

Last Saturday was the feast of the Annunciation, the day on which the church commemorates the visit of the Angel Gabriel to the Blessed Virgin and his announcement that she was to become the mother of God. In former days it was a holy day of obligation in America, but among Catholics in the United States it is now only a day of devotion. The Sisters of Charity have taken the day for many years as an occasion for renewing their vows. The general administration of perpetual vows this year was occasioned by the recent approval of the order by Pius X.

Hereafter the nuns who enter the order will take annual vows for the first three years, then a vow for three years. After that they have the privilege of returning to life in the world or making their vows for life. The Sisters of Charity of Nazareth were founded at Nazareth, Nelson county, Kentucky. Cardinal Martinelli, former Papal Delegate to Washington, D. C., is the first Protector of the order under its new status.

AGED MOTHER DEAD.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Abel, who died at her home, 923 East Gray street, on Thursday evening of last week, took place from St. Martin church on Monday morning and was largely attended. The deceased was seventy-five years old, and although a native of Germany had spent nearly all her life in Louisville, and was for fifty years a member of St. Martin's congregation. Mrs. Abel was well beloved by all who knew her. The following children survive her: Frank Abel, for many years a Captain in the Louisville fire department, now retired; Martin Abel, Louis Abel, a Captain in the fire department, and Joseph Abel, Mrs. Louise Scherer and Mrs. Maria Plotner. She was a sister of Frank and Martin Senn. Death was due to the ailments attendant upon old age and Mrs. Abel entered upon her eternal rest with a child-like faith in the goodness of God.

VETO BILL

Will Come Up For Another Round in House of Commons Monday.

Premier Asquith Will Take Drastic Measures Against the Filibusters.

Home Rule For Ireland Means Peace For Great Many Nations.

ENTER ROCHE; EXIT TIM HEALY

During the past fortnight there has been much shuffling of the cards in English political centers, but the results have not appeared on the surface. Premier Asquith promptly denied the story that he was weakening on his proposition to pass his veto bill and was ready for a compromise. He has reduced the Easter vacation to four days and has given notice that the veto bill is to be taken up before that time. In order to meet the obstinate Tory filibustering, intended to delay the veto bill, he would propose the most drastic forms of closure. On Monday, April 3, the fight between Tories and Liberals will be on again in all its force.

Just now the British Cabinet is weak only in the illness of its members. Secretary Haldane's transfer to the House of Lords has not hurt the Ministry, even though he was an able man. There is work for him to do among the Peers and he will do it. Lloyd-George is still absent from the seat of political warfare owing to a severe attack of throat trouble. His absence at this time weakens the Ministry because the debates of the past fortnight have concerned his budget mainly.

The treaty of friendship between England and the United States is much favored in England just now, but the Britishers are anxious for the Americans to become more enthused over it. Sir Edward Grey and others have voiced the necessity of a hands-across-the-sea policy between the United States and "Mother" England, but there has not been that enthusiasm of Anglo-Saxons or alleged Anglo-Saxons on this side of the ocean that would warrant any one to say that the entente cordiale, as they say in diplomatic French, is a matter of fact. The Congress of the United States will have something to say regarding the treaty, and its talk may be altogether adverse.

But T. P. O'Connor, writing from London, tells us that one indirect but prompt effect of the campaign for the Anglo-American entente is that England's relations with Germany have entered into a new and friendlier stage; even the difficult Baghdad railway question, which threatened their good relations for years, approaches an amicable settlement. Mr. O'Connor declares that a wave of universal peace is spreading over Europe, and that it helps the cause of home rule for Ireland, since it will relieve England from the danger and shame of an unrecalled and unliberalized Ireland.

Over in Ireland everything is serene. All are awaiting home rule and are confident that it will come. The unopposed return of Augustine Roche as representative of North Louth in Parliament indicates the final and utter rout of faction in that community. His victory is a triumph for Irish unity in national politics. The editor of the Dundalk Democrat pays this tribute:

"Mr. Roche is a gentleman who will never disgrace the Nationalists of Louth. For thirty years he has borne a prominent part in the political history of his native city and province. A more unselfish and single-minded man does not figure in Irish politics today. His time and his money have been freely spent in serving the Irish cause. Personally a most amiable and kindly-hearted man, he has suffered not even personal friendships to stand between him and his duty. He stood by the party of independent opposition in the South at the time of the Parnell crisis though it meant even to a man of his kindly and inoffensive character the severance of ties of friendship. A warm personal friend of William O'Brien, he did not hesitate to oppose that gentleman's mistaken and fatal policy of disuniting the National party in the vain hope of propitiating its hereditary and irreconcilable enemies. With him principle has always come first. Yet his first words after the declaration of his unopposed return on Wednesday were of amity toward those misguided Nationalists in North Louth who have hitherto opposed the Irish party, and an invitation to every honest man to take his place in the ranks of Nationalist Ireland."

Timothy Healy retired from the fight in anything but a dignified manner. He refused to contest against Mr. Roche, but his whole and sole argument was abuse of his former friends and supporters. Henceforth he will reside in England. There are those who believe his residence in England will be for Ireland's good. North Louth hopes it has seen the last of him.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' SENIORITY.

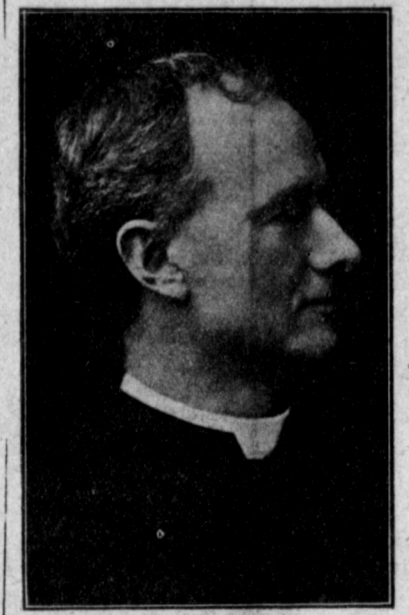

Few American Catholics realize that Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore, occupies a very high place in the Sacred College. As a matter of fact he has only four Cardinals before him in point of seniority. They are Cardinal Moran, Archbishop of Sydney, Australia; Cardinal Capelatro, of Rome; Cardinal Neto, of Portugal, and Cardinal Oreglia di Santo Stefano. He is senior of all Cardinal Bishops except Cardinal Oreglia; of all Cardinal priests except the other three mentioned above, and of all Cardinal deacons indiscriminately.

SILVER JUBILEE.

Rev. A. J. Thome Has Been Ordained Quarter of Century.

The Rev. Father Andrew James Thome, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's church, will celebrate his silver sacerdotal jubilee on April 19, Easter Tuesday. The celebration will actually begin on Easter Sunday evening, when the people of the congregation will give a reception in his honor at the parish hall. On Easter Monday the children of the parish will have a reception and entertainment in honor of Father Thome.

But Easter Tuesday will be the big day, the day when the jubilarian will celebrate his mass of thanksgiving for being spared twenty-five years to serve at the altar. On that day his brother clergymen will gather around him to assist at the ceremonies and to wish him many more years of service at the altar of God.

The solemn jubilee mass will begin at 10 o'clock. Father Thome, as a matter of course, will be the celebrant. Rev. Dr. George W. Schuhmann and Rev. Father George Weiss will be the deacon and subdeacon respectively. The Rev. Father P. J. A. Berresheim will be first master of ceremonies and the Rev. Father James Assent will be second master of ceremonies. The sanctuary will be filled with clergy, friends of the jubilarian. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Father Rudolph Charles Ruff, assistant pastor at St. Vincent de Paul's.

The celebration has been fittingly planned. Fathers Thome, Weiss and Schuhmann are all sons of old St. Mary's parish and were old schoolmates. Fathers Berresheim and Assent were formerly associated with Father Thome at St. Martin's church and Father Ruff, who is his assistant and almost constant companion at St. Vincent de Paul, is a son of St. Martin's parish, where Father Thome labored so long and so earnestly. It is eminently fitting that he should preach the jubilee sermon.

NEW CONVENT

And Academy Is Planned by the Cincinnati Ursulines.

From the Cincinnati daily papers it is learned that St. Ursula's Academy and Convent of Cincinnati has purchased the mansion occupied by the Schuster School of Eloquence at the corner of McMillan street and Upland Place, Walnut Hills. According to the most authentic information the reality was owned by Joseph Rawson, Vice President of the First National Bank, who sold it on Saturday to Miss Nanno Coleman, a prominent Catholic lady of Louisville, and a sister of Mother Fidelis, Superior of the Ursuline Convent at Cincinnati. Neither of the principals would discuss the details of the sale, but it is confidently asserted that more than $30,000 changed hands on the deal.

Those in a position to know say that the Ursulines plan an immense new convent on the newly purchased site. Plans for the purchase of the ground and alteration of the building have been in contemplation for several years past. Mother Fidelis is a sister of Miss Catherine Coleman, Capt. Thomas Coleman, of this city, and of the late John, Bannan and Spalding's Canadian.

ITALY'S SAIL HARVEST.

The Italian Government is reaping what it sowed. One by one the crowned heads of Europe are declining invitations to attend the exposition to be held in Rome this year. None of the European monarchs care to insult the august successor of St. Peter, Pius X.

TRAVELERS.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lynch Pay a Brief Visit After Long Absence.

Former Louisville Couple Spent Six Years in Golden West.

Will Soon Sail For Lengthy Tour of Ireland and the Continent.

WHY HE COULD NOT DROWN

William Lynch, formerly one of Louisville's most enterprising merchants and dry goods dealers, is back in the city after an absence of six years. He arrived in company with his wife, who was formerly Miss Mollie Mohanay, on Sunday evening, March 19. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch expect to remain in Louisville until April 15, when they will make a month's tour of the East and then sail for Europe. Both are enjoying excellent health, and Mr. Lynch has the same cheery word and the same style of blarney that he used with good effect when engaged in commercial lines in Louisville.

Mr. Lynch talks interestingly of his life in the West. It is a real treat to hear him. He was sojourning with his wife at Los Angeles when San Francisco had her great earthquake and fire six years ago. His description of the ruins and the scene of devastation after that catastrophe is graphic, pathetic at times, humorous at other times, but always full of interest. Mr. Lynch told something about his life in the West to a coterie of friends in the Kentucky Irish American office one day this week. While in Los Angeles he became acquainted with several earthquakes. Some of them had the east to west vibration, while others vibrated from north to south and then swung corners. Although he is more or less familiar with seismic disturbances one can see that Mr. Lynch does not like them and he does not care to have any radical earthquake get familiar with him.

He tells of the marvelous speculative spirit of the Golden West. Commercial enterprise is in the air, he says, but the majority of the speculators are Eastern men. It is worth while to hear him tell of the new buildings of concrete and twisted steel, ten, twelve and sixteen stories tall. He can tell you all about Gen. Otis and the labor troubles at Los Angeles or how he spent six weeks of last summer at Cataline Island, twenty-seven miles from the coast of California. He tells of fish that weigh 100 to 200 pounds and that are caught with light tackle and how exhilarating is the sport of catching them.

While on the Cataline Island Mr. Lynch went swimming. "See that man diving in there," said an Irish word to one of the beach guards. "He will drown. He has cork legs," Mr. Lynch did not know of this remark, and after his swim came out and sat upon a bench on the beach. The guard proceeded to look him over and then ventured to remark: "You can swim anyhow, can't you?" "Of course I can. Why shouldn't I?"

"That man over there said you had cork legs," replied the guard. "He did, eh? Well, I have Cork legs and Cork arms and I'm a Cork man." Still the guard was mystified until Mr. Lynch gave him a few lessons in Irish geography.

At present Mr. Lynch is staying at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. They plan to leave Louisville on April 15 and will go direct to Washington. After a week in the National capital they will go to New York for two weeks and two more in Boston. A unique feature of the coming Eastern trip is that four schoolmates are to hold a reunion in New York. Forty-three years ago Mr. Lynch finished his schooling at Kildrean national school, County Cork. Three companions who left school at the same time are living in the United States and all are in comfortable circumstances. One is in the United States Secret Service in Washington. Another is a railroad official in Buffalo. The third is prominent in financial circles in New York City. Mr. Lynch is the fourth. There will be some popping of Cork wit when that quartette assembles in New York early in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch have booked their passage for Queenstown on May 17. After spending some time in Ireland they will cross to England and from there to Belgium. The next journey will be to Copenhagen, Denmark. After that they will see Sweden and Norway, and by easy stages. There will be no hurry. Next winter they plan to spend in Italy. Later they will visit France and Germany and then back to Ireland and the Cove of Cork.

In the West Mr. Lynch frequently met John Bacon and Jeremiah Bacon, former Louisville merchants, now export goods trotters. He says the Measars Bacon enjoy excellent health and still have a warm spot for Louisville.

NIGHT WORKERS' MASS.

With the approval of Most Rev. James H. Blenk, Archbishop of New Orleans, a mass for night workers employed in the various newspapers and otherwise is soon to be celebrated regularly in a new chapel in St. Patrick's parish. The plan to be followed will be similar to that in New York City.

CARDINAL MORAN

Has Class of All Creeds and Classes in His Domain.

Robert Thomson, a prominent non-Catholic of Sydney, Australia, in a recent article declares that "If in years to come, when great achievements that are now but aspirations have become historical events, the stranger should ask the children of Australia to name some of the men who deserve best to be ranked as the founders of the Australian nation, it is my earnest hope that among the great names mentioned will be that of Patrick Francis Cardinal Moran, the great Cardinal who has rendered services of the most priceless value to the cause of Australian nationality. Though not of his fold, I hold the Cardinal in reverence, and like many others I have awakened to the fact that a Prince of the Catholic church may also be a democrat and a leader of the democracy in secular things. Australian nationality has a powerful ally in Cardinal Moran, and apart from his duties as the chief shepherd of a great church he has found time to teach his flock to do their part in the establishing securely and nobly of a great Commonwealth."

Cardinal Moran, though past his eightieth year, is still vigorous and strong in mind and body and takes an active interest in public affairs. Only a few weeks ago he delivered a long address at the laying of the cornerstone of Armidale's new Cathedral, and scarcely a day passes that he is not present at some public function. For the past ten years he has worked untiringly to procure funds to aid in the completion of St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, which will be a marvel of architecture and the handsomest building of its kind in Australia.

URGES REFORM.

Pope Pius X. Does Not Believe in a Worldly Clergy.

Students of human achievement may not entirely comprehend the intricate delicacy of the Vatican's attitude toward those countries that are steadily trying to throw off the yoke of the retrogressive and decaying system of family government, improperly called monarchical institutions. Pius X. was long a parish priest and a keen observer. He will not tolerate an indolent or worldly clergy, and even Cardinals in Italy having suburban seats are obliged to give them personal supervision—in other words, to be seen in Rome less and more often in their own dioceses. Rome has ceased to be a lounging place for clerics.

The meager cable messages making known the promulgation of some new decrees does not give us an adequate idea of his character. To obtain that we must seriously deconstruct ourselves. They reveal a man of strong will, solid piety and a profound knowledge of his position and its obligations. He is bent upon making the world understand that everybody inside the church—priests and Bishops, Archbishops and Patriarchs and the scarlet-robed members of her senate, students in seminaries, high and low in religious orders, and the great multitude of the laity—must observe her laws. Young men are not to be admitted to the ministry when their attitude is that of persons about to enter a profession rather than of those who esteem it a vocation; priests newly out of seminaries are not to harangue "the faithful" with flowery sermons and conferences upon subjects with which they themselves are not wholly familiar, and which, in general, are "better calculated to flatter the intellect than reform conduct." Sensational preachers are to be forbidden the privilege of the pulpit. Bishops must see to it that priests are quick to answer the call of the sick or the dying, and that themselves are ordered to give a more comprehensive account of their stewardship than has been the custom. From the outset Pius X. has endeavored to restore all things to Christ.

NEEDS OUTSIDE HELP.

The Jefferson County Federation of Catholic Societies has taken preliminary steps to bring the National Federation convention to Louisville next year. This year it is to assemble at Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Peter S. Ganz and other gentlemen identified with the Federation movement in Louisville will hold an early conference with the Louisville Convention and Publicity League so that joint steps may be taken in the project. The Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue has already given his approval to the project.

EASTER COMMUNION.

The members of Mackin Council will make their Easter communion at St. Charles Borromeo church on Palm Sunday morning. The Rev. Father C. F. Rafter, pastor of the church, is an old and faithful friend of Mackin Council.

HOLY WEEK

Now Rapidly Approaching With All Its Sad and Solemn Ceremonies.

Palm Sunday Will Usher in Period of Fasting, Contemplation and Prayer.

Each Day Has Its Peculiar Rites and Symbols of the Church.

OFFICE OF TENEBRAE AT NIGHT

Lent is rapidly drawing to a close. Tomorrow we will have Passion Sunday. A week from tomorrow will be Palm Sunday and then the Holy Week—Holy Thursday, Good Friday, all a preparation for Easter.

Palm Sunday commemorates the entrance of our Saviour into Jerusalem on the Sunday prior to his death on the cross. It was a triumphal entry, and his followers spread palms in his path and hailed him with hosannas. The church commemorates this event by blessing and distributing palms to the faithful before the high mass on Sunday morning. The palms left over from that day are burned and the ashes are blessed to be distributed among the faithful on the following Ash Wednesday.

Holy Week is the most solemn period of Lent. Wherever there are priests of regular orders the Tenebrae is sung on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. In Louisville the office of the Tenebrae will be sung at St. Louis Bertrand and St. Boniface churches. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday are days of abstinence and fast. Many Catholics also observe abstinence on Holy Thursday. It was on the night of that day that our Divine Redeemer instituted the holy sacrament of the Eucharist. It was on Good Friday that He was betrayed by Judas and crucified. These mysteries in the life of the Man-God are commemorated by the church on Holy Thursday and Good Friday. On Holy Saturday the church prepares the faithful for the great mystery of mankind's redemption, the resurrection of Christ from the grave.

On Holy Thursday the Bishops and Archbishops of the world in their several Cathedrals bless the holy oils used by the priests in administering various sacraments. Every parish priest repairs to the Cathedral on that day and is given the necessary oils for the year.

The mass on Holy Thursday is always celebrated in white vestments, because the institution of the Eucharist is commemorated, yet there are certain signs of the mourning proper to the Holy Week. The bells which sound at the Gloria are thereafter silent on Holy Saturday. The celebrant of the mass consecrates an additional Host, which is placed in a monstrance and borne in procession to one of the side altars or a repository elsewhere prepared for it. After the mass the main altar is stripped of all ornaments and coverings and washed with wine.

Good Friday commemorates the death of our Lord. The church teaches the faithful to contemplate his agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, his scourging, his crown of thorns, his journey to Calvary bearing the weight of the cross, and finally his death. On Good Friday the priests wear black vestments. The Host, consecrated on Holy Thursday is borne back from the repository to the main altar and is consumed by the officiating priest.

On Holy Saturday the church blesses the new fire and the Paschal candle. The blessing of the candle is followed by the reading of the twelve prophecies. This in turn is followed by the blessing of the font and the Easter water. The clergy go in procession from the font to the main altar, reciting the Litany of the Saints as they go. Once on the altar is bedecked in flowers and the priests wear white vestments. At the Gloria of the mass the organ peals, bells are rung and there are signs of joy on every hand.

The office of the Tenebrae is a beautiful and solemn service during Holy Week. It symbolizes the darkness that overspread the world prior to the birth of our Saviour. The priests are arranged in chairs at either side of the main altar. On the epistle side of the sanctuary stands a triangle illuminated by thirteen candles, symbolizing the Redeemer and the twelve apostles. The priests chant certain psalms, sing the lamentations of the Prophet Jeremiah and several canticles. One by one the candles are extinguished. Finally the last candle is concealed behind the altar, signifying that Christ would rise again from the dead. All the lights in the church are extinguished while an Our Father is said. After that the lights are turned on and priests and people retire in silence.

FOR CATHEDRAL ALTAR.

The ladies of the Altar Society of the Cathedral will have a eucharist at the residence of Mrs. Joseph F. McGowan, 515 West Chestnut street, on the evening of Wednesday, April 19. Quite a number of handsome prizes have been donated for the occasion.

ATTENTION, TAXPAYERS!

The much touted Board of Education is getting its bump-the-bumps these days. Who is saying a good word for it save Business Manager Jones and the imported Superintendent Holland? The members of the board are changing the names of school buildings, relegating old and tried principals to the retired list, and have even discharged Assistant Superintendent Lucas because he dared to speak without the permission of his superior. Mr. Holland does not deny that Mr. Lucas told the truth, but he is more because Lucas said it first. Holland wanted that privilege but was beaten to it. Mr. Holland recommended the dismissal of Assistant Superintendent Lucas, asked that the dismissal be made at once despite the fact that Mr. Lucas' term does not expire until September, and says he is willing that Mr. Lucas should get $1,250 for his services despite the fact that he does no work during the coming six months.

The Board of Education is also in trouble with the Montenegro-Riehm Company because it is seeking to avoid fulfilling a contract for the purchase of fifteen pianos, said contract being made by the old School Board through Sam D. Jones, business agent of the old board and his own successor under the new. The Montenegro-Riehm Company has asked the courts to issue a mandamus to compel the Board of Education to fulfill its contract.

The dismissal of Mr. Lucas without stopping his salary; the litigation over the piano contract; the changing of names of schools—all these things cost money. That $1,250 paid to Mr. Lucas for services he will not have rendered is a mere bagatelle to Mr. Holland, but it places a burden on the taxpayers of Louisville.

The board also seems to have a fondness for imported teachers. The home-grown article has palled on their acquired tastes for foreign novelties. There is no doubt that Louisville's public school system needs improvement, but how many members of the present Board of Education are competent to suggest the necessary reforms?

It is up to the taxpayers to put a stop to the waste of money that this board is guilty of. It is up to the people to stop the actual demoralization of the Louisville school system. The public schools are awarded lots of money by our tax system. This year the total property valuation in the city is $180,000,000. The tax rate is $1.81 on the hundred dollars, and the school system gets thirty-six cents out of every $1.81 collected. Is not that a nice bunch of money to hand over to a bunch of incompetents?

THE AMERICAN DOLLARS.

The American dollar has insidious and corrupting uses or abuses in Great Britain, but it also has good uses. It all depends on who gets that big, round American dollar. In January last, when general elections were on in Ireland and Great Britain, Tory politicians and journals were denouncing the American dollars that were crossing the Atlantic ocean to corrupt British voters and overthrow the British constitution. Those dollars went only from Irish immigrants and their sons and daughters. Those dollars were awful. It meant tainted money. But it is different now.

Now the tune is changed. The London papers are beginning to tell about the annual invasion of England and Great Britain and Ireland by the Anglo-Saxon tourists from America. They tell that 100,000 are coming over there for the coronation and are expected to spend $25,000,000 between May and October. None of this is tainted money. Oh, no! This is Anglo-Saxon silver and gold. The Anglo-Saxons from New York, and nearly all Irish Anglo-Saxons at that; the Swedish Anglo-Saxons from Wisconsin, the Hungarian and Slav Anglo-Saxons, the Italian and Syrian Anglo-Saxons, the Swiss Anglo-Saxons and the French Anglo-Saxons are all going over to pour their money into the laps of the English merchants and tradesmen.

Barnum found out many years ago that the American people were fond of being humbugged. The American people have not changed.

Show them a king or a coronation and the American fools and their money soon part. If 100,000 Americans spend $250 each in London it would mean $25,000,000. Think what good could be done in the United States with that amount of money or half of it in works of charity! Then think how badly the broken-down English Peers and Irish absentee landlords need those corrupting American dollars.

FILTH ON THE STAGE.

Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, is being commended by some editors of New England papers because he has taken a firm stand against the presentation in that city of a nasty, filthy drama. To name it would only be to advertise it. Boston's Mayor was right in stopping the presentation of that play, but he must not end there. As head of the most cultured city of the United States he has many duties to perform, and not the least of them is to be the city's chief dramatic censor. He need not attempt to uplift the stage, but he can stop its downfall. Other Mayors in other towns may pattern after him.

On the American stage today there are plays that are as rotten as any ever presented in England or in France. Yet they are tolerated. The theatrical magnate gets a new drama with a filthy theme and immediately exploits its filth. He tells its story to the press and whispers that there may be police interference after the first night. The first night comes. The morbid lovers of filth, of marital infidelity and social degeneracy flock to the theater and the success of the show is assured.

Last week there was a holocaust in New York City. More than 141 women and girls lost their lives. At once the authorities took steps to investigate the origin of the fire and to place the blame for loss of life. Only 141 lives lost, but a moral upheaval is started.

How many souls are lost through attendance at pernicious plays in all the large cities? How many young men and women are going to destruction through their visits to houses where these filthy dramas are performed?

Mayor Fitzgerald is right in his firm stand. He may encourage others to follow his example. There are lots of good, clean heart-interest dramas and lots of people willing to pay the price for witnessing them. Let the Mayors of America unite to keep the stage clean. They pay for clean streets. Why not give us a clean stage?

TEACHING THE LITTLE ONES.

Real Catholic mothers are fond of their children and want their little ones to be with them in heaven, and to that end begin to teach them to fold their little hands in prayer as soon as the child begins to notice things about it. When it begins to lip the baby is taught the names of God, of Jesus, of Mary and of Joseph. By the time Catholic babies are three years old nearly every one of them can repeat the Our Father and the Hail Mary. More than that, they conclude their prayers with "God bless papa, mamma, my brothers and sisters, my uncles and aunts and God bless everybody. My Guardian Angel protect me now and at the hour of my death. Amen."

Now that children are to be permitted to make their first holy communion when they arrive at the age of reason Catholic mothers will be more than ever assiduous in teaching the little ones their prayers. No true Catholic mother will neglect it.

WARNING WORTH HEEDING.

State Labor Inspector Patrick Fliturn sounded a note of warning in his speech before the Central Trades and Labor Assembly last Tuesday night regarding the necessity for more and better fire escapes. It is no reflection on Col. Tilford, our optimistic Building Inspector, to say that he does not know the danger. Mr. Tilford is kept busy in his office and he is a busy, hard-working man, but there are many fire traps right in the heart of Louisville's business district. If Mr. Tilford will let office work to some one of his able deputies for a day or two there are a number of interested citizens who can show him conditions that he does not realize. Fliturn and Tilford are both good men and have the interests of the people at heart. If they will pull together they can work great good for life saving in Louisville. A little thing like politics should not separate them in a mutual desire to save human life and prevent suffering.

AN ERROR SOMEWHERE.

The Providence Visitor says: "The story that comes from Texas that a reporter had been robbed on Sunday of $1,000 doesn't sound good and looks like a fake. Few reporters would have that much of their week's pay on them the day after."

We have known editors that would not have half the sum the day after pay day. Perhaps after all it was a typographical error and that the genial journalist was touched for $10 instead of $1,000. You know how careless these linotype operators are.

A young woman employed as cashier in an Eastern city is in jail charged with embezzlement. She admits that she appropriated her employer's money because she could not live on the wages she received. Her employer says: "It is true we would have paid a man more for the service she rendered, but supply and demand control the price. You can get a woman's labor cheaper than a man's. There is no reason why we should pay more." Who is to be the more censured, the erring girl or the philosophical employer whose motto is: "Pay a man not what he is worth, but what you can get him for." There are many employers like this in the United States. One of the four sins crying to heaven for vengeance is that of defrauding a workman of his wages.

Italy opened her series of expositions at Rome on Monday. Even the secular press admits the opening a failure. The King and Queen were there; members of the court and Senate were there, but the Pope was not. Rome is not Rome without the presence of the successor of St. Peter. United Italy is attempting to celebrate the theft of the Papal States from Pope Pius IX. of illustrious memory. It is proving more like a funeral than a fete. Other expositions in Italy are to follow at Turin and Venice, but there is scant chance of success in point of attendance at any of them.

Centuries before wireless communication between man and man was dreamed of there was wireless communication between man and God. That communication has never been interrupted by tempests nor earthquakes. God Almighty is ever ready for our signals of distress. It is proper to contemplate on God's goodness at this season of the year.

There are many decent, respectable and God-loving Baptists in this community. How long will they stand for the disrespectful and sacrilegious utterances like those of the Baptist World dated March 30, 1911? Possibly the editor of the Baptist World has never come in contact with Sisters of Charity and their work.

The Lenten season is the spring season. Flowers are abloom, plants are putting forth their shoots and trees are budding. Who caused these marvels? Not man, only an omnipotent Creator. To realize the omnipotence of God would be too great for the human intellect.

LOCAL KNIGHTS

To Organize Branch of Order at New Haven Tomorrow.

Tomorrow a party of Louisville gentlemen will go to New Haven, Ky., to reorganize and enthrone Branch 61 of the Catholic Knights of America there. In the party will be State Secretary William T. Mehan, Gen. Michael Reichert and Eugene McCarthy, Supreme State Deputies; Joseph P. McGinn, John Schalla, Charles Hill, William M. Higgins, Charles Falk and Harry Veeneman. The Louisville delegation will leave the Tenth street Union Station via the L. and N. at 8 o'clock and will arrive at New Haven at 9 o'clock, in time for the late mass.

In the afternoon the Catholic men of New Haven will be addressed by the Louisville delegation, and every effort will be made to arouse new enthusiasm in the old Nelson county branch. All Louisville members who desire to make the trip ought to notify Mr. Higgins or Gen. Reichert some time today.

Last week the Kentucky Irish American announced the reported engagement of Miss Florence Catherine Reilly to Ford A. Dance. There was no such engagement, but the publication was caused by a person whose idea of humor is sadly degenerated. The engagement was announced in good faith.

McCloskey, Jr., a capable third baseman; Joe Foley, who has made good locally as a first baseman; George Duddy, a crack-a-jack shortstop, and Outfielder Eddie Fries. The youngsters will start for Montana today.

The city dedicated to St. Francis will have one of the most costly and elaborate buildings ready to receive all strangers from the East during the celebration.

LAETARE MEDAL

Has Been Awarded Miss Reppier by Notre Dame.

The Laetare medal, which is annually awarded by the University of Notre Dame to a lay member of the Catholic church in the United States for conspicuous work in the field of literature, art, science or philanthropy, has been awarded this year to Miss Agnes Reppier, of Philadelphia. The medal, which is a large disk of pure gold, takes its name from the fourth Sunday in Lent, which is called Laetare Sunday.

Miss Reppier was chosen for this high honor by the Board of Trustees of the university because of her literary work. This is not the first time she has been honored for her literary attainments. In 1902 the University of Pennsylvania conferred on her the degree of Doctor of Letters. Miss Reppier is the daughter of John and Agnes Reppier and is of French descent. She was born in Philadelphia April 1, 1857. Her early education was undertaken by her mother, a woman of rare culture. At an early age she was sent to Sacred Heart Convent, Eden Hall, near Philadelphia, and there she acquired her taste for literature. She began to write exquisite essays and novels when a girl in her teens, and as the years passed her work has constantly improved.

The medal will be conferred on Miss Reppier with due ceremony at any date that will suit her convenience.

RECENT DEATHS.

MADE FIRST VOWS.

Miss Mary Eagan, a popular New Albany girl, who entered the convent of St. Mary of the Woods, near Terre Haute, a year ago, took her first vows as a member of the order of Sisters of Providence last Saturday. Miss Eagan was one of eight novices that took the vows. She will be known in religion as Sister Paulina.

Mrs. Rosa Welscher, an active member of St. Anthony's congregation, died at her home, 424 North Twenty-fifth street, on Tuesday morning. Death followed an illness of three months. Three brothers and a sister survive her. They are George, Harry and William Doerr and Mrs. Maggie Stephens. The funeral took place from St. Anthony's church on Thursday and was attended by many sorrowing friends.

Mrs. Mary Dolan died at the family residence, 1816 High street, on Saturday morning and her funeral took place from St. Patrick's church on Monday morning. The deceased was thirty-eight years old and is survived by her husband, James Dolan, for many years nightwatchman at the Galt House, and three small children. Mrs. Dolan was held in high esteem by all who knew her and her untimely death is a cause of genuine regret.

The funeral of Miss Agnes Kohler, aged fifteen years, whose death resulted from tuberculosis, took place from St. Frances of Rome church, Rev. Thomas White conducting the solemn obsequies. She was the daughter of William Kohler, 170 William street, and is survived by her parents and three sisters and three brothers. The large attendance at the funeral evidenced the widespread sympathy felt for the bereaved family.

MISSIONARIES BUSY.

Rev. Fathers O'Connor and Cleary, the Dominican missionaries whose headquarters are at St. Louis Bertrand convent in this city, opened a two weeks' mission at St. Andrew church, Avondale, a suburb of Cincinnati, at the 10 o'clock mass last Sunday morning. The first week was for the unmarried people of the parish and the second week will be for the married members. The children will receive special instructions during the afternoon.

NOTED PRELATE

Will Attend Blessing of Cornerstone of New Church.

The cornerstone of the new St. Augustine church, on Broadway, near Thirteenth, will be blessed with due religious ceremony on April 23, the Sunday following Easter. Archbishop John Lancaster Spalding, until a few years ago Bishop of Peoria, Ill., will come to Louisville to assist at the ceremonies. The Archbishop was the first pastor of St. Augustine's congregation and builder of the first church of that name. He has never lost interest in its work, although he has been out of the diocese for forty years. Father Follen, pastor of St. Augustine's, has invited the members of Mackin Council to act as the guard of honor for Archbishop Spalding and Bishop O'Donoghue on the occasion of the cornerstone laying. The ceremony will begin promptly at 3 o'clock. Although St. Augustine's church is for colored Catholics, there will be thousands of white people in the crowd that witnesses the blessing of the foundation of the new church.

OUR SELECTION.

The Chicago Cubs under the leadership of Manager Frank Chance will again try conclusions with our Colonels this afternoon and tomorrow, and if the weather man doesn't interfere a regular midseason crowd will be on hand for the Sunday game. The fans are well satisfied with the material being tried out by Manager Howard, and all are unanimous in predicting that Louisville will surprise some of the wisecracks throughout the circuit who do not expect much of the Colonels. A majority of the local critics pick the following line-up for opening game: Reilly or Hughes catcher, Richter pitcher, Grimshaw first base, Stansberry second base, Robinson shortstop, Lennox third base, Haygen right field, Stanley center field, and Kaiser left field.

JUST A FAKE.

The Courier-Journal on Thursday morning published a story concerning Catholic Church Extension work that was without any local foundation. It is true that there is a national society of Catholics engaged in a mission work, but there is no branch of the society here. The Very Rev. Father Cronin did not make the statements attributed to him in the Courier-Journal.

SENATOR PAYNTER ANNOUNCES.

Senator Thomas H. Paynter has announced his candidacy to succeed himself as United States Senator, and will submit his candidacy to the voters at the Democratic primary to be held July 1. In making the announcement Senator Paynter took occasion to make a lengthy statement as to why he was a candidate.

WILL BE MISSED.

Miss Maggie Coughlin, for thirteen years housekeeper at the Kentucky Institute for the Blind, left last night for St. Louis to make her home. Miss Coughlin was one of the best known ladies in the local Irish community and her Louisville friends hope that her life in St. Louis will be peaceful, prosperous and long. She will be missed in Louisville.

WILL INITIATE MANY.

New Albany Council of the Knights of Columbus is making extensive preparations for its coming initiation, which will be held on Sunday, April 30, when the degrees will be conferred on a large class of new members. For this initiation Jeffersonville has now forty-one candidates and New Albany twenty-six and the number may be further increased.

MOTION PICTURES.

Both the Casino and Orpheum Theaters are putting on new dresses for the spring and summer season. The Orpheum will be a gem of beauty when completed. New films and new thrills are promised by the management of both houses for the coming week. The pictures will be amusing, interesting and of educational value.

INDIANA GRAND COUNCIL.

The Board of Grand Directors has accepted the invitation of Hope Council and Rev. Father Rawlinson and will hold the next Grand Council of the Indiana Young Men's Institute at Brazil. Being convenient to Indianapolis and Terre Haute, many visitors will attend from both places.

VALE! MARCH.

An old adage has it that when March comes in like a lion it goes out like a lamb. Louisville people can testify that this year March came in like a lamb and went out like a lion.

GERMAN CONGRESS.

A resolution of the Central Committee of the German Catholic Congress is published fixing the next general assembly of that body for August 6-10. The meeting will be held in Mayence. An exposition of Christian art will be opened on the same day as the congress.

Ashland Hibernians Pay
 Tribute to James
 Serey.

The Ashland division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians on last Sunday caused a high mass to be celebrated in the church there for the repose of the soul of the late James Serey, Sr., a veteran of the order. At that mass the entire division approached, holy communion and offered up their prayers for the eternal rest of their former friend and colleague.

Messrs. T. M. Howard, Jr., M. J. Ryan and J. J. O'Neill, who were appointed to draft suitable resolutions on Mr. Serey's death, have paid him a high tribute as a man of charity, of patriotism and good citizenship. Few men stood higher in the estimation of the Boyd county people than did James Serey. In his passing the whole order has lost a staunch and earnest member. He was an example to all Hibernians and the Kentucky divisions need more men like him. "Eternal rest give unto him, O Lord, and may perpetual light shine upon him."

A VENUE THEATER.

George D. Baker's dramatization of "Graustark" from the novel of George Barr McCutcheon, which proved such a delightful story of love and romance, will be the attraction at the Avenue Theater all of next week. The tremendous success accorded this play is most flattering, but not more than deserved. The lines are sprinkled with the sort of humor and bravado that takes with all classes of theatergoers. The scenes are laid in the mythical principality of "Graustark," and allow a production of old world scenes and settings of an elaborate and beautiful nature, with costuming to fit the locale. The cast presenting the play is an excellent one and would indeed be hard to improve upon. Usual matinees are scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at the Avenue's popular prices of admission.

MACAULEY'S THEATER.

Lyman H. Howe will present his series of "Travel Festivals" at Macauley's Theater all of next week. Each performance will take the patron through a different country. These pictures will be educational in themselves and their reputation is well known in Louisville. The interest and beauty of nearly every scene will be enhanced by presentations in the actual colors of nature.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

Another vaudeville bill of first class quality is promised for Hopkins' Theater next week. Of course there will be the usual run of six high class turns and motion pictures, the finest ever seen in Louisville. Judging from the continued attendance the Hopkins' Theater will continue open all summer.

BANNER NIGHT.

Division 4, A. O. H. Received Ten Applications
 On Monday.

Division 4, A. O. H., had a banner night on Monday and President John H. Hennessy and all the members were highly pleased from the start. Ten applications were received. The applicants were William Schnell, Harry J. Hennessy, Michael McDermott, Jr., John Coleman, Michael Manion, John Manion, Matt Muldoon, Cornelius O'Leary, John Dwan and Thomas Higgins. Patrick Healy and Thomas Mullaney were obligated. Those present were enthused over the good showing and all promised to go after new members. John Doolan and John E. Browne are still on the sick list.

Short addresses were made by Attorney Newton G. Rogers and Stephen J. McElliot, and both agreed that the recent splendid St. Patrick's day entertainment had given the order a big boost. Quite a number of brief talks were made in favor of increasing the membership in order to make a big showing in the parade next St. Patrick's day.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

Tomorrow morning the Forty Hours' Adoration will begin at the Church of St. Elizabeth, Burnet avenue, at the high mass and continue until the solemn close Tuesday. Father Assent, the pastor, will conduct the beautiful and impressive devotions and will be assisted by a number of his brother priests. There will be the usual procession and the sanctuary will be specially decorated by the ladies of the Altar Society.

MAKING GOOD.

Paul Martin, of this city, is making good as a ball player at Columbian College, Owensboro. He is the youngest player on the college team, but in the three games thus far played—all shut-outs in favor of the college—his work has been without an error. Paul is the son of James J. Martin, of 2427 West Walnut street, a well known tinotype operator.

SUFFERS BROKEN ARM.

Little Mary Boldrick, the nine-year-old daughter of Judge Samuel J. Boldrick, while skating on rollers last Wednesday fell and sustained a fracture of the right arm. She was carried to her home, 1914 South Second street, and is resting as comfortably as possible under the circumstances.

SOAKS GUN CARRIER.

Judge Samuel J. Boldrick entered a fine of $50 and a workhouse sentence of thirty days against William Roberts, a negro arrested Sunday night for brandishing a pistol and creating a reign of terror in the neighborhood of Ninth and Walnut streets. Judge Boldrick also commended Patrolmen St. Clair and Graham for arresting the negro before he did any damage. The Louisville public wishes Judge Boldrick would fine every gun toter to the limit.

EXCURSION TO JASPER.

The Catholic Knights of America of this city will give an excursion over the Southern railway to Jasper, Ind., on June 11 under the auspices of the Central Committee. The Jasper Knights are pleased with the idea and the uniform rank will be out in force to escort the Louisville visitors to mass and to show them over the city.

BAZAR FOR SCHOOL.

On April 24 a bazar for the benefit of the new parochial school of St. Vincent de Paul will be opened in the present school building at Shelby and Oak streets. It will continue one week, Sunday excluded. The Rev. Father A. J. Thome is pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's and invites his friends all over the city to help make the bazar a success.

MISS TAITTY BETTER.

Miss Katie Taitty, who has been seriously ill at Memphis, is out of danger and is recovering rapidly. Her Louisville relatives and friends expect her to pay a prolonged visit to this city that she may be entirely restored to health.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

The Catholics of the United States own upward of $125,000,000 of school property. With 4,972 parochial schools, there are 1,237,250 Catholic children in these schools. Counting in the orphan and other dependents there are 1,482,699 children who are being educated from the private funds of Catholic citizens.

DUTY'S PATH.

It is not pleasant to record the truth that there are mothers who have sacrificed motherhood to worldly ambition, and the most unhappy women on earth are those who have set aside filial ties in order to live lives of social frivolity, and the time comes to all such when the bloom of youth forsakes the cheek, and the fire of youth dies out of the eye. Such often turn to their homes for sympathy and love, only to find that they too have vanished, and when it is too late the sad truth dawns upon them that they are unloved and unloved. The path of duty is the only safe path, let it be ever so thorny, and the only safe guide-board points to the Christian home.

OLD TREASURES

Of Priceless Value Burned in New York State's Fine Capitol.

OLD TREASURERS.

Crossed electric wires caused a fire in the New York State Capitol at Albany on Wednesday and the damage to the building alone is estimated at $5,000,000. Besides this old treasures and historical documents of priceless value were destroyed. The building cost $25,000,000 and was considered absolutely fireproof, but the contents in the way of fixtures and old manuscripts proved easy food for the flames. The entire nation will mourn with New York over the destruction of relics so dear to the people of the Empire State.

The New York State Capitol cost more money than the National Capitol at Washington and the Congressional Library put together. It covers three acres of ground and cost $25,000,000. It is 400 feet long, 300 feet wide and its walls are 100 feet high. Most precious from the historian's standpoint, of the fuel for the flames, were the twenty-three manuscript folio volumes of the famous official records of the Governors of the city of New Amsterdam, covering the period from 1630 to 1674. They were original Dutch documents. Not one of them were saved. The correspondence of Gov. George Clinton, 5,000 pieces in all, were also destroyed.

Other priceless Colonial, Washington and Lincoln relics were in a safe on the ground floor and were uninjured.

FEDERATION

Has Active Committees Working On Many Useful Schemes.

The Jefferson County Federation of Catholic Societies has appointed a committee to get up a census of the Catholic population of Louisville. Another committee was appointed to compile a roster of all the Catholic societies of the city. Both these committees are expected to report at the next meeting, which will be held at the Catholic Woman's Club on the second Thursday in April.

The Library Committee has established a register at the Catholic Woman's Club and for a very useful purpose. It is respectfully requested that churches, societies and confraternities register the dates of prospective entertainments so that similar fetes or bazaar may not conflict. The Library Committee is arranging to send a collection of Catholic books to the Lakeland Asylum, where there are 250 unfortunate members of the faith. Reading is about their only pleasure. All Catholics are requested to send either new or old books for this purpose to Miss Sadie Doyle, Chairman of the committee, at 1302 Highland avenue.

FATHER KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

No more spells. From Yalesville, Conn., writes Mr. J. P. McGovern, Sept. 8, 1910, that his daughter, 14 years old, was so nervous she could not attend school. The doctor treated her over 3 months, but without success. Then he used Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic and two bottles had the desired effect.

Mr. Chas. Wittman, 9 Chatham Square, New York, was sick from heart disease, fever and fainting. Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic benefited his case very much and he is very well satisfied with the results.

Mrs. A. Thomas, Winfield, N. Y., was troubled with dizziness and weakness for three months. Few doses of Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic relieved her and after taking one bottle she had no more attacks.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases and a Sample Bottle to any address. Poor patients also get the medicine free.

Prepared by the Rev. Father Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and now by the KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill., 108 Lake Street.
Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle, 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75; 6 Bottles for $9.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Cullied From Exchanges.

The sale of Castlereagh town and demesne has been concluded.

A house belonging to Fred Barry, of Gort, situated on his farm at Newtown, was burned to the ground.

Councillor T. J. Murphy, recently re-elected to the Cork Corporation for the Center ward, has notified his intention of resigning.

The Scariff Guardians have elected Dr. P. J. Holmes as medical officer of the Annercarriga Dispensary district. There was no opposition.

There was only one case for trial at County Cavan Assizes. "Not only peaceable but prosperous," was Lord Justice Holmes' description of the state of the county.

On Sunday forty-one head of cattle were driven off the farm of Cregballyconole, near Ballyvaughan, County Clare, belonging to Bryan Cullinan, Woodstock.

It has been decided to open a branch of the Labor Exchange in the Bridge street Post-office at Portadown. The work of making the necessary alterations will shortly be commenced.

Opening the Limerick City Assizes the Lord Chief Baron said there were only three cases for investigation, and he had to congratulate the grand jury on the peaceable condition of the city.

The Lord Chancellor on the recommendation of the Earl of Kenmare, Lord Lieutenant of the county, has appointed John Cragh-Harnett, of Listowel, to the commission of the peace for the County of Kerry.

The death has occurred in Wales of Rev. Father O'Donoghue, a native of Cahirciveen. He was in his forty-fourth year, and was a devoted worker for his people and an ardent lover of his native land. Death was due to heart trouble.

While engaged with his brother in cutting down an ash tree a farmer named William Ross, of Kilmearney, near Carlow, was fatally injured by the tree suddenly toppling over and pinning him beneath it. It was close on an hour after the occurrence before his friends succeeded in extricating him.

Details are to hand of the bomb explosion at an evicted farm occupied by a man named Thomas Pratt and his family at Gurteenrann, near Killooley, South Tipperary. Two bombs of a crude description were placed outside the house and one of them exploded, but no damage was done beyond the shattering of the kitchen window. No arrests have been made.

The remains have been laid to rest in Kilmara Abbey, near Cork, of the late Dr. Patrick O'Keefe, medical officer of Mountjoy prison, whose remains were removed from Dublin. The esteem in which he was held was touchingly illustrated by the very large attendance of those who came to pay a last tribute to a member of an old and much respected County Cork family.

Oliver Rowe, a water bailiff, was returned for trial to the Assizes at Ballina on a charge of having fired at Thomas Naughton and Michael Synnott, whom he found poaching in the River Deel, near Crossmolina, and with having seriously wounded Naughton. One of the witnesses for the prosecution was Peter Kerrins, a water bailiff, who was with Rowe, and who said that Rowe fired two shots at the men.

The death of Stephen O'Shaughnessy, late Clerk of the Crown and Peace for County Louth, removed one who for a long time was a notable figure in the public and official life of the country. He came of a legal stock, being the son of the late Judge O'Shaughnessy, who was in his day one of the leaders of the Irish bar, and afterward filled the office of County Court Judge for County of Louth from 1846 to 1849, when he was transferred to Mayo and later on to County Clare.

There was general rejoicing all over North Louth on the election of Augustine Roche to Parliament. In Dundalk the windows of nearly all the houses of the town were illuminated and pictures of Parnell and Hazleton were prominently displayed. Bonfires were lighted in many of the streets, while a blazing barrel which crowned the Old Castle at Seatown answered, as it were, the fires which flared from the tops of the Carlingford mountains. Everywhere there was the most intense enthusiasm.

MANY MOURN

Untimely Death of Miss Nellie Kiley, of West End.

The entire community was shocked when the announcement of the death of Miss Nellie Kiley at her home, 1322 West Jefferson street, was made on Wednesday evening. Grief over the death of her father, John Kiley, a well known blacksmith and Irish patriot, is believed responsible for her death. Three months ago she suffered a stroke of apoplexy and never rallied from the shock. Miss Kiley was in her twentieth year and was a most lovable character.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Johanna Kiley; two sisters, Misses Mamie and Josephine Kiley, and three brothers, Tom, Dennis and Officer John Kiley. Her funeral will take place from St. Patrick's church this morning.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

The Right Rev. Monsignor James E. Duffy, V. P. M. R., of Rensselaer, N. Y., has been the guest of the Rev. Father Thomas W. White, pastor of St. Frances of Rome church, during the present week. Monsignor Duffy is one of the foremost priests in the Empire State.
